

Why run for the elections?

The mission of the Chambre de la sécurité financière is to protect consumers by maintaining discipline and overseeing the training and ethics of nearly 34 000 members. The CSF carries out its mission by stringently monitoring the practices and continuously upgrading the knowledge of these professionals.

Those members practice in five sectors and registration categories:

- Mutual fund dealer
- Financial planning
- Insurance of persons
- Group insurance of persons
- Scholarship plan dealer

The CSF is ruled by a Board of Directors of 13 directors. Of this number, eight directors are elected and five are appointed by the Minister of Finance.

The Board ensures that the CSF functions smoothly and takes a stand on a variety of issues that affect the profession and public protection. The Board of Directors sets out the CSF's professional development rules and code of ethics. The Board of Directors also determines the composition of the discipline committee. Multidisciplinary peer coaching and professional competence are at the heart of the CSF's activities.

By getting involved, you will help to advance your profession, learn more about the issues and challenges facing CSF members, and have a concrete impact on the decisions that affect your profession and self-regulatory organization.

Who can run?

To apply¹, a candidate must be duly authorized by the Autorité des marchés financiers ("AMF") to practice as a Representative in insurance of persons, a Mutual fund dealer representative and Group insurance of persons be a representative as defined in section 289 of An Act respecting the distribution of financial products and services.

It is possible to vote at any time of the day during the voting period.

I received notice of these elections, but my contact information is incorrect. Who do I need to speak to?

For all modifications, contact the AMF directly by phone at 514-395-0337 or 1-877-395-2263, or correct the error on the elections notice and fax it to 418-525-9512.

Who makes up the Board of Directors?

The CSF's Board of Directors consists of 13 directors. Of this number, eight directors are elected and the five are appointed by the Minister of Finance.

Also, directors elect among themselves the Chair, the Senior Vice Chair and the Second Vice Chair.

What involvement is required of directors

- From four to six meetings each year, each meeting lasts approximately 6 hours, including the annual general meeting. Special meetings can be called depending on the needs of the organisation. On average, each meeting requires between three to five hours of preparation.
- The Board members are also invited to get involved, either as a member or as chair of the different standing committees, or of the other non-standing committees of the CSF. The members of the standing committees meet three to five times per year, depending on the needs or the organisation.
- Multiple skills and experiences in business management can be considered assets for the CSF, namely corporate leadership, finance management, strategic planning, IT management or risk management. A good knowledge of the issues regarding the profession, or a privileged contact with members of the sector or registration category are also considered an added value for the Board.

What is the term length for the Board members?

The term length of the elected board members is of three years. Elected Board members cannot cumulate more than three consecutive terms.

The term length for Board members named by the Minister is also fixed by the Minister but cannot exceed three years. Those terms can be renewed consecutively two times only.

Are directors remunerated for their involvement?

Directors are volunteers and are not remunerated for their directors' duties. However, attendance allowances are offered: $1 000 for each Board of Directors meeting, $1 000 for each committee chair and $750 for each committee members meeting. Travel costs are also reimbursed, in accordance with the CSF's policy.
